

The senate failed to adjourn yesterday.

M. De Freycinet has consented to form a coalition to succeed the party in ministry.

General Grattan asks less than our weeks of being sixty-three years of age. He was born April 27, 1822.

The three Colorado commissioners that have been appointed by the present administration were confirmed yesterday.

General Joseph S. Boutwell, who has just been appointed commissioner of railroads, is seventy-eight years of age.

Now, this is greatness! The great known man recently received a letter addressed simply "Mr. Barnum, America."

Edmund Bassett of Illinois, recently nominated to be consul general at Vienna, is a brother-in-law of Mr. Schurz.

The senate rejected a nomination for postmaster yesterday—the first nomination rejected this session; if we remember right it is.

Captain W. F. Weller does not mean to be left. Apparently he will run for a term or two on his own winging for the majority.

The papers are poking fun at me and because of the way in which she has no got "recognition" from the present administration.

Some one has taken the trouble to find out that Dennis van a seat more than 5,000 suits to the state war; enough for five regiments.

The ministry of Jules Ferry, which has just gone out of power, had office a little more than two years. It went into office February 21st, 1883.

Once more the tone of the capacities have changed, and this morning there seems less hope again of a peaceful solution of the questions between England and Russia.

Some of those who do not follow closely the struggle for office now going on at Washington may be interested to know that Mr. Jones, the new postmaster of Indianapolis, was Mr. Greeley's candidate.

Two American towns have fallen a prey to the ravages of war—Batticaloa in Ceylon and Aspinwall on the isthmus of Panama. The latter is a railroad terminus, has a good harbor, and is a place of some considerable commercial importance.

Charity and duty still make a queer team. Jacob Burse, Esq., a well-known "upper," and Tom Channing, Esq., a gentleman of similar occupation, singly consented to appear at an entertainment for the benefit of the sufferers by the recent fire in Chicago.

The way the King is posted on the Southern reverse and the way in which the Tonquin defeat affected the French will illustrate the difference between the two peoples. The English seem to understand better that it doesn't pay to swap horses while crossing a stream.

The rumor that France is inciting the disturbances in Central America—the same France that took a hand in the affairs of Mexico some twenty years ago—reduces to a lame eastern jester this "prudent" saying of the tyrant: "Ne monterez pas avec un sac de bœufs!"

Secretary of the Navy Whitney yesterday made arrangements for sending a force of four or five hundred men for land use on the isthmus of Panama. The object of this war-like movement is to protect American interests. We hardly imagine that the news of this movement will cause much excitement in this country.

It has been reported in Washington that S. D. Rounds, the present public printer, declines when his successor is appointed, to start a paper at Washington similar in character to the Nation, with O. M. Atwater, of the Denver Opinion, who is his son-in-law, as editor. But Rounds says the story is "a fib," which rather coolly it is.

Mr. Lincoln was once counsel for a plaintiff who went on the same side, and swore positively that a certain defendant in his case had not been paid. The attorney for the defendant, upon producing a receipt in full, signed by the plaintiff or by the defendant, refused to admit the signing of the receipt, but told Lincoln he supposed the man was dead. Lincoln then arose and left the courtroom. The judge told him to proceed with the case, and Lincoln, not appearing, urged "reatra" to a bar to go to the door and call him. The man ran across the street to the hotel and found Lincoln sitting in the office with his feet on the stove, apparently in deep thought, when he interrupted him with: "Mr. Lincoln, the judge wants you." "Oh, come in," replied Lincoln; "we'll go back and tell the judge I cannot come. Let him have to wash my hands." He did, and returned with the message, and Lincoln's client suffered a nonsuit.

The New York Evening Post is accused of making an "insidious but effective" attack on Mr. Jackson, the new minister to Mexico. The attack consists in printing the following specimen of his early poetry:

With his stately air, that grave old tree,
He stands like a hooded monk.
With the gray moss waving solemnly
From his shaggy limbs and trunk.

But a mourner said, the hoary tree,
A mourner sad and lone,
And is clad in funeral drapery.
For the long life dead and gone.

He falls, he fails, to become our guard,
The bulwark of the free,
And his bosom of steel is proudly bared
To baffle the rising sea.

A Boston paper suggests, couplass in a spirit of ruling irony and pride, that we have a specimen of the verses of the successor to Mr. Lowe.

It is uncertain how the delegates to the city convention will stand on major. But a pretty just estimate of the result is as follows:

First Ward.....	Wilder Barnes Wells
Second Ward.....	3 1
Third Ward.....	1 7
Fourth Ward.....	7 0

From the above it appears that Mr. G. S. Barnes leads, with Mr. F. B. Weston only one, and W. F. Weller three behind.

The Denver News approves the re-appointment of Postmaster Pearson of New York. The chief reason for its approval is that Mr. Cleveland could hardly ignore the mud-wumps who could not, to secure a reelection. It is hard to see how rewarding mud-wumps for political services differs from rewarding democrats for political services. Neither the one nor the other is civil service reform.

The National Union League, which has been somewhat prominent as a supporter of the republican party, has decided to devote more attention to the tariff question. At a recent meeting the league adopted the following:

Resolved, That the secretary be directed to open correspondence with the organizations laying for us care has to be the protection of American industry, with a view to insure a co-operation.

Rasmus S. Andersen, the new minister to Denmark, owes his position to Postmaster General Vilas. He was for some years a student of law in the Wisconsin state university at Madison, and is an author of some repute. He has written a great deal on Norse literature and history, and has done much to arouse among Americans an interest in Norse and anglo-saxon writers. Professor Andersen will continue his literary work abroad.

President Cleveland's slow pace in making up a budget contrasts strongly with similar work twenty-four years ago. But those were days of danger and not days of a civil service reform. A Washington correspondent says:

The renomination of Mr. Pearson as postmaster at New York's significance as observed. An independent republican of New York gave us the first every principle of civil-service reform emanated, that is, appointment about to be made. On the other hand, most democrats are very oppose; very vigorously to this practical existence of reform. For it can hardly be denied that a large majority of that party believe in turning the rascals out, mean by "rascals" republicans of all colors, the most honest and efficient as well as the opposition ones. We congratulate Mr. Cleveland.

The result in the nomination of a German in the Second ward is a matter of congratulation. A German Hughes deserved the endorsement. Professor Stone won again as a member of the executive committee of the civil-service reformers.

The man of the day, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Van Wyck, were having in view a curriculum of the one, of senate committees and the other seeking to abolish the pleasant summer recess of the Senate.

If the United States senate should engage in a rivalry of economy with the executive committee, it would be kept busy for some time. The propositions of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Van Wyck, both having in view a curriculum of the one, of senate committees and the other seeking to abolish the pleasant summer recess of the Senate.

The Arkansas legislature has come to a gracie by passing a resolution of sympathy with General Grant.

Three Colorado postmasters were appointed yesterday. Among them was Anse. Watrous, editor of the Courier, at Fort Collins.

In view of the present condition of the state finances, the effort to increase the pay of state employees should be delayed.

This morning's despatches from London give the more hope of a peaceful solution of the dispute between Russia and England.

The past year was one of unprecedented plenty in its food supply, and yet the people of parts of West Virginia are enduring the horrors of famine.

Russia's army on a peace footing numbers 700,000, while on a war footing, amounts to 800,000. England's financial strength, of course, was superior to Russia's.

Jersey justice has a good reputation for swiftness and decisiveness, but it seems rather clear. The conviction of a murderer recently in Ocean county cost $5,000.

"President C. C. C. has increased fear of assassination," writes Charles A. Bryan from Washington to the Denver Times. "We trust it is not true. Such a fear is not created a.

New York as well as Colorado will take a census this year. In New York the enumerators are to be appointed, in accordance with the state civil service law, only after proper examination.

The new first assistant postmaster general, A. M. May, is said to be a more advanced protestant than even Mr. Taft. The new ass'tant postmaster general does not, however, have a great deal to do with the tariff.

President Cleveland's new appointments are not men of national reputation, but they may nevertheless make good postmasters. Mr. C. C. C. seems to be owing the precedent he set in the nomination of Mr. May.

Secretary Manning stated yesterday that he would let the Legislature a privilege to a review of the tariff in a spirit of fairness to all interests. Mr. Manning said further that the work should be done cautiously and by conservative methods.

Mr. C. C. C. has made another unexpected appointment. He has chosen an eccentric church of crooked frames as his official church, although he has no attachment to it. The "eccentric" New York Presbyterians are numerous other churches, and the work should be done cautiously and by conservative methods.

Yesterday's news of General Grant is now going round that we have yet to see. There seems little reason to doubt that he can arrive more than a very short time. The American people feel a very strong interest in the outcome and their longings and prayers will go out for him as he passes through the dark valley.

The contest in the South and the threat of secession in the North are not all of England's difficulties. A new one has been added in the Canadian race. This will, no doubt, be taken care of by Canada, but it promises to be quite a formidable and will take away from the aid that the country might otherwise render the mother country.

The president sent in a long list of nominations yesterday including appointments to several important diplomatic positions. The best known name in the list is that of ex-Governor Thomas L. Walker, of Connecticut. Mr. Walker would be the present governor if a man by his election in Connecticut, as it does in most states. But under the Connecticut system the legislature elects a governor, the popular candidate.

The co-religionists of the South say, "see you no longer the old Confederacy?" It says an exchange, "and croak no louder" in their interest, regarding marriage between the two races, as the civil rights did by far the more important of the two." We agree that the legislature ought to press a civil rights bill, but why not pass the other too? The legislature of the confederate states will agree with the spirit of the nineteenth century.

Senator Lowell has offered an amendment to one of the bills pending in the legislature which entitles all to the right of suffrage who are citizens. Under the provisions of the bill, Colorado Springs will be enabled to elect her representatives at a lower rate of interest. If the bill is amended, becomes law, we shall be able to reduce the year's taxes by $2,000—$6,000 for the standing fund and $6,000 for outstanding water warrants.

The news paper did some good guessing as to C. C. C.'s cause, but in regard to the accuracy of his correspondence are too long so we in the New York Tribune have very few doubts. Yester evening's issue about the appointment of the diplomatic appointments, and has since turned out, as set forth in the Tribune, that General's friends were confident that he would be minister to Turkey or Egypt and France, they were mistaken, and the people who believed that John C. C. C. would be minister to England or to France, were also mistaken. The Tribune has a view of producing a work on the countries and people of the east.

General Grant's position in regard to the Grant & Ward case shows us, from a comparative view, that he was successful in his efforts to secure his appointment, and was not without experience in the foreign service, having been secretary of legation abroad during the term of President Pierce, and was very great satisfaction to those who served with him in congress, and generally spoken of as an excellent selection. This is the evidence of Mr. Cox's actions and the extensive travels in foreign lands, leading to become an eminent diplomatist representative. He is not without experience in the foreign service, having been secretary of legation abroad during the term of President Pierce, and was very great satisfaction to those who served with him in congress, and generally spoken of as an excellent selection.

A LEAP IN THE DARK.

George Duncan Resors to the Revolver to Carry Himself out of the World.

About half-past seven o'clock last night George Duncan, who writes from a residence at the corner of Nevada avenue and Cheyenne street, came at twelve by shooting himself through the head. He was a reverent. A representative of the GAZETTE who visited the house a few moments after the suicide happened learned the following facts. It seems that Duncan for a number of years has been suffering from a complication of diseases and for the past few weeks has been a constant sufferer. A few minutes after seven last evening he requested his brother, who was sitting in the sofa room with him, to get him a drink of water, which he proceeded to do. While the brother was in the kitchen at the other end of the house he heard the report of a revolver and immediately rushed to the bedroom. Upon reaching there he found the room vacant, and further investigation revealed the body of his brother lying on the ground directly beneath the window of the room. Blood was flowing profusely from a wound in the left breast near the heart, and death must have been almost instantaneous. The deed was committed with a large 45-caliber nose revolver, and the bullet passed entirely through the body. It is thought that the man was laboring under a fit of temporary aberration of mind, and either shot himself while passing through the window or jumped out upon the ground and then shot himself.

George Duncan came here from Genewood, Iowa, about two years ago for the benefit of his health. He has however gradually failed instead of improving, and it is thought in good circumstances when he came he has spent all his means and been unable to earn more. Last December he went to Genewood Springs, returning in about a month, a few weeks since he has been sick in bed most of the time. He leaves a wife and four little children in delicate circumstances.

Coroner Day's has been notified and will soon inquire to day if one is deemed necessary.

District Court.

Most of the day yesterday in the district court was taken up with criminal business. James Foss, charged with petty larceny, withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty. As there is another indictment against him sentence was not passed upon him.

We learn from Mr. Green, police officer, were arraigned and plead guilty to keeping gambling houses. They are in the custody of the sheriff.

James A. Moore, who plead guilty to the charge of maliciously breaking Mr. Day's plate glass window, was called up for trial. District Attorney Wain prosecuting attorney, Mr. Cochran conducting the defense, the empanelling of the jury, examination of the witnesses and verdict of guilty returned by the jury (it not occupy more than an hour). Xanadu was sentenced to thirty days at hard labor in the county jail.

In the case of the People vs. Charles Porter, charged with assault with intent to kill upon James Fountain, the following jury was sworn: A. J. Bishop, Thomas Skinner, W. H. Rose, C. Blase, J. S. Patterson, F. L. Saarbeck, E. Fackre, J. A. Logue, John in Summer and F. Buck.

District Attorney Wain conducted the prosecution and Mr. Wm. O'Brien acted as counsel for the defendant. The testimony as given by the witnesses for the prosecution showed that Porter had discharged a shotgun at Fountain while the latter was riding on horseback, the shot rattling around him but not injuring him. After which the two men had a scuffle. It was also testified to that the defendant had threatened to kill Fountain previous to the shooting.

Considerable testimony was given in favor of the good character of the defendant, the attorney denying that he shot at Fountain just in the ground near him to scare him. The case was given to the jury at half past four, and at eleven they returned a verdict of not guilty.

CITY POLITICS.

Results of the Primaries in the Several Wards—A German Nominated.

The primary primaries for the election of delegates to the city convention and nomination of aerman to represent the several wards were held as night and were conducted very quietly. Below we give the proceedings by wards:

FIRST WARD.

The attendance at the First ward caucus was exceeding yesterdays, there being over forty voters present. Mr. W. S. Weller, committee man from the First ward, called the caucus to order and read the call convening the caucus. Mr. W. S. Weller stated that consideration of the nomination had been engendered by the manner in which the caucuses had been conducted as of late, and in order to prevent any cause for such meetings this year the committee had unanimously agreed to recommend that the caucuses in the several wards should select a joint of three judges to keep a list of the names of voters and number the ballots. Those on y shall be selected or none have who have received a majority of the votes cast.

On motion of Mr. W. S. Weller the committee was accepted and Adam Paster, Lev Wiley and C. C. Hooker were elected to superintend the election held by each ward caucus, who will keep a list of names of voters numbered, and number corresponding to each ward. Those only who are declared elected or not elected who shall have received a majority of the votes cast.

On motion of Mr. W. S. Weller was chosen as chairman and A. S. Day as secretary of the caucus.

For Congress

A good sized audience gathered at the opera house last night with the expectation of seeing John Wilkes Booth in his dramatic character of General Roscius under in the play "The Iron Sash" for Congress. No announcement was made before the play was proceeded with that Mr. Raymond was sick and had not been able to appear upon the stage after leaving Denver, and the part that the customary taxes was paid by one of the other members of the company, who however succeeded in making a portion of the audience actua-ly believe that he had seen John Wilkes Booth, one of America's famous comedians. They were, however, to some what disappointed to learn to the contrary, and that they only saw Raymond who had stayed out the day before to work quite smoothly without him. The company outside of the star was quite a strong one.
